Selecting images in order to order photos

Mark all the images you wish to order or select an entire album. Select the "Export" function. The format selection menu will then open up.

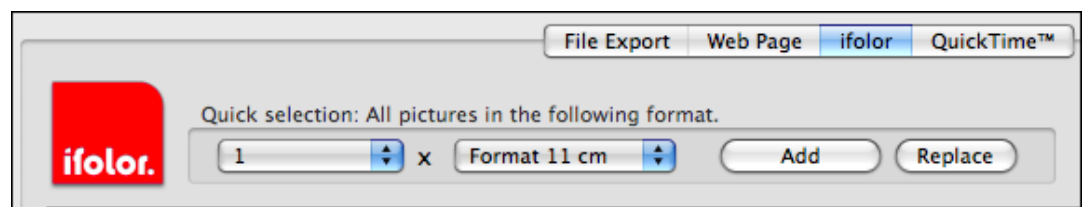

Determining photo formats

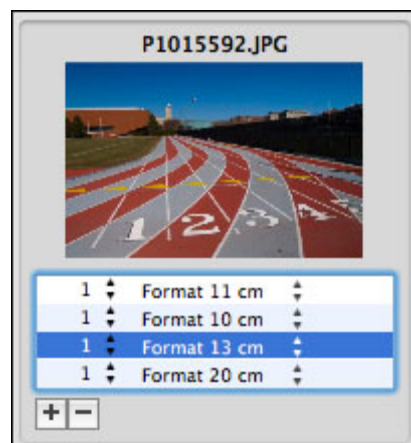

Use express selection to order all pictures in the same format or individual selection to order the pictures in different formats.

Quick selection:

To order all selected images in one format, select the format in the drop-down menu, define the quantity of prints, and confirm by selecting "Replace". If you would like an additional print of each image in a different format, select the "Add" option.

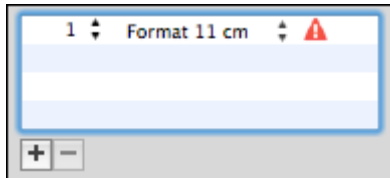

Individual selection:

You may also order all images in different formats if you wish. If you would like to order an image in several formats, click on the plus (+) key underneath the preview. If you wish to remove a format again, mark it and click on the minus (-) key under the preview.

Quality check before you place your order

Once you have made your selection, check to see if a warning triangle has appeared next to the format information. A yellow warning triangle means that the image size could suffice for the selected format, but there could be shortcomings in the resolution of the photo. If a red warning triangle appears, the image size is too small for the selected format. You should pick a smaller format instead. Press the "Export" button to proceed to the next step.

Entering your address

In the next step, you enter your address. If you want us to deliver the order to a different address, you should also enter that address here. Press the "Continue" button to proceed to the next step.

Checking and sending your order

Check the selected formats and the quantity entries. After confirming the "General Terms and Conditions of Business", click on the "Order" button. Your order data and images will then be transmitted.

Confirmation of your order

After data transmission, a confirmation of your order appears on the screen. You also receive a confirmation by e-mail.
